LOWDEN BOOM RUNS ON HIGH; SEEMS WINNER

Sentiment for Ex-Gov. of Illinois is Growing Steadily

Face Traction Strike.

Cleveland, O., June 7.—With the republican national convention only two days away, Cleveland today is facing a street car tie-up. The 2300 motorcars and conductors of the Cleveland Railway Company, voted last night to strike at midnight Tuesday, the day the convention opens, unless the company grants a 12 cent an hour wage increase awarded by an arbitration board Tuesday.

Few of the delegates to the Convention will be affected, as most of them are quartered in downtown hotels with taxicabs retained for their use.

Mayor C. C. Townes continued efforts to bring about a settlement through mediation today. There is a possibility that international officers may intervene.

The trouble has been brewing since last week.

Cleveland, O., June 7.—Members of the republican national committee will go into session today to wind up the hearing on contested seats.

Only a single contest remained to be disposed of, that from the tenth Tennessee district. Two delegations were selected in as many meetings in Memphis, the second meeting having been called after the first had been marked by a pitched battle.

G. T. Taylor and Wyman Wilkerson both of Memphis, were selected at the regularly called convention while J. M. Johnson and H. O. True, also of Memphis, were named at a "rump" convention which followed the intervention of the police at the first gathering of the delegates.

Discussion of the vice presidency still holds the center of attraction among officials and delegates already in Cleveland with an apparently increasing sentiment in favor of former Governor Lowden of Illinois.

Concerning the growing demand for Ex-Governor Lowden as the republican candidate for the vice presidency, Arthur Sears Henning of the Chicago Tribune, said in this morning's paper:

With the LaFollette independent candidacy hanging like an ominous cloud over the councils of the Republican party, G. O. P. leaders assembling for the meeting of the national convention next week are intent upon selecting a candidate for vice president whose special mission it would be to hold the disgruntled farmers of the northwest in line from the Coolidge ticket.

Nearly all of the national committee-men who have arrived on the scene maintain that former Gov. Frank O. Lowden of Illinois is preeminently qualified for this role as well as admirably equipped for the vice presidency and are saying tonight that if the White House continues to keep hands off nothing can stop the naming of Lowden save Lowden himself, and they doubt that even he can do that now.

Doubts Cast on Lowden

Some close friends of President Coolidge here, however, are known to have expressed doubts today that Mr. Lowden will be the nominee for second place on the ticket.

Why They Fear Bob

Not a few Lowden leaders here are full of misgivings regarding the LaFollette candidacy. They fear he will prove a popular candidate in some of the old time banner Republican states in the corn and wheat belts and that the result will be either the election of the Democratic candidate or the precipitation of the choice of president into Congress.

So it turns out that the LaFollette danger is one of the important factors in the development of the Lowden boom for vice president to vast proportions in the last two or three days.

Lowden is popular with the farmers. He is a practical farmer himself and he devotes nearly all his time to the furtherance of the interests of the farmers in a multitude of agricultural organizations in which he takes a conspicuous part. While he is being boomed for vice president he is even now in Virginia attending a meeting of the Holstein association. Mr. Lowden is popular not only in Illinois, but in Iowa and Minnesota, to both of which states he lived before going to Chicago.

Don't Want a Radical

It is possible that there are radical Republicans. Judge Kenyon of Iowa, for example, who would appeal more strongly to the discontented farmers, but a radical Republican is not wanted.

Boy Takes Brothers With Him in Death in Suicide During Night

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, June 7.—Three boys are dead as the result of an open gas jet in their bedroom at the home of their mother, a widow, and police have uncovered circumstances that leads them to believe that the elder boy turned on the gas with suicidal intent. The boys are John, 15; Stanley, 13, and Joseph Cleary, 10.

The police claimed that John has been told he must either attend school, go to work or be sent to the reformatory. They say he brooded over this.

GOVERNOR TELLS HERRIN SHERIFF TO DO HIS DUTY

Answers Request of Officer for Militia With a Letter

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, June 7.—Governor Len Small has replied to Sheriff Galligan's request for state troops to be sent to Herrin, Ill., during the trials in Herrin city court of the cases involving S. G. Young, former paid Klan leader in dry raids, by directing the sheriff that it is his duty to protect the peace.

The correspondence made public today by the governor's secretary, showed that on June 4, the sheriff asked for troops to be assigned to Herrin during the trials beginning June 9 to which the governor replied:

"You are the duly elected and qualified sheriff of Williamson county and it is your sworn duty to uphold the supremacy of the civil law and maintain order in that county, using adequate force for such purpose. Should you apprehend violence at any place in Williamson county which your regular force of deputies would be unable to quell it is your duty to swear in and arm a sufficient number of special deputy sheriffs to prevent such violence and to maintain order. I expect you, as the chief officer of Williamson county, to perform the duties imposed upon you by the laws of Illinois and take every legal step to prevent disorder in your county."

CONGRESS IN LAST DAY OF SESSION IS BEHIND WITH WORK

Met Early Today in an Effort to Clean Up Important Bills

As Congress Quits.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, June 7.—The house resolution authorizing admittance of certain aliens in excess of quotas for this year and legalizing admittance of others who would be deported under court decisions was adopted today by the senate.

Appointment of a senate committee to sit during the campaign and investigate expenditures of candidates for president and vice president, congress and the federal offices were authorized by the senate today.

The proposal was embodied in a resolution by Senator LaFollette, Wisconsin, leader of the republican insurgents, and was adopted without a record vote.

On motion of Senator Lodge, republican, Massachusetts, the following committee was appointed under the resolution:

Borah, Idaho, chairman; Jones, Washington, republican; Caraway, Arkansas and Bayard, Delaware, democrats; and Shipstead, Minnesota, farmer-labor.

Washington, June 7.—The bitter issues of the oil scandal, quiescent for weeks, suddenly were brought to life again today when Senator Walsh of Montana, prosecutor of the inquiry sought senate approval for the report written by him and approved by a majority of the oil committee.

Senator Spencer, republican, Missouri, who opposed Senator Walsh's position, objected to consideration of the report which charges serious irregularities in connection with negotiation of the Sinclair and Doheny leases by Albert B. Fall.

Washington, June 7.—Congress was called an hour earlier than usual today for the final drive toward sine die adjournment, set tonight.

Disposal of the reclamation measure embodying recommendations advanced by the fact finding commission of the interior department was the principal task on the program of both chambers.

The proposal was attacked by the senate as a rider to the deficiency bill which was ordered into conference yesterday, and action on it was held up in the house pending decision by the conferees whether to recommend its acceptance as an amendment by that chamber.

Seek Farm Relief

Farm bloc members also were ready today to make a last effort to get action on a relief measure having centered late yesterday on the Bursum bill providing a 35 cent export bounty on wheat and wheat products until December 5, 1925, which, it was estimated, would cost about $15,000,000.

The bill had been reported by the agriculture committees of both chambers and Senator Norbeck, republican, South Dakota, in announcing that he planned to work for action on it in the senate today, said enough votes for its passage by the house had been assured.

The motion of Senator LaFollette, republican, Wisconsin, for discharge of the committee on audits and control from further consideration of his resolution for a continuing investigation during the recess of campaign contributions and expenditures also held privileged status today with considerable opposition.

His fight last night for discharging of the foreign relations committee from consideration of the resolution to pay $10,000,000 for German relief was lost.

Another measure having privileged position in the senate along with the conference report on the deficiency bill, was the proposal of Senator Shipstead, farmer-labor, Minnesota, for an inquiry into the "deflation of commerce, finance and agriculture," in 1920.

May Vote on Oil Report

Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, also had announced his intention to press for approval of the majority report on the oil inquiry.

The Hoch resolution declaring agriculture a basic industry and calling for an Interstate Commerce Commission investigation looking to a downward revision of freight rates with special reference to those affecting farm products, was adopted last night by the house. A similar proposal had been passed previously by the senate.

The senate, last night, passed a bill looking to establishment of a per-

Offers to Hang for One of Boys if His Heirs Get a Million

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, June 7.—A letter purporting to have been written by Curt Geissler, 647 West 19th street, Milwaukee, Wisconsin, and offering to substitute himself on the gallows for Nathan Leopold, Jr., or Richard Loeb, confessed kidnapers and slayers of Robert Franks, if his heirs were given $1,000,000,000, was received by Morgan Collins, superintendent of police today. It read:

"Chief of Police of Chicago: I have been reading about the two boys, Loeb and Leopold, and the wealth of their parents. And I have come to the conclusion that in case of their conviction, I am willing to take the place of one of the boys in case they are to be hung.

"If this can be legally arranged and the parents of one of the boys are willing to pay to my heirs, $1,000,000, then I am ready to be hung anytime the law is ready to call me as there is no glory in life ahead of me.

"I am a tailor, 25 years old, well, strong, honest and a good citizen. I have worked since I was 12 years old and never harmed no one. The only crime I ever committed was working hard all my life.

"Respectfully,

"Art Geissler."

647 West 19th Street, Milwaukee Wis.

"P. S.—I am enclosing my picture for identification. Kindly inform parents of the boys."

ADMITS HE WROTE IT

Milwaukee, Wis., June 7.—Curt Geissler, a Milwaukee tailor, said by Chicago police to have offered to substitute himself on the gallows for one of the slayers of Robert Franks, if his heirs were given $1,000,000, when found at a local tailor shop admitted he had written the letter referred to.

He refused to comment on the incident.

BILL TO BOOST P. O. SALARIES IS VETOED TODAY

"Government Extravagance" Must Stop President Declares

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, June 7.—The postal salary increase bill was vetoed by President Coolidge today with the declaration that "government extravagance must stop."

It was returned to the senate with a message objecting to the legislation because it was no provision for raising the approximately $68,000,000 from the postal revenues.

Approval was given by the President to the provision added to the bill to regulate campaign expenditures and the statement was made that he would approve that section if it stood alone.

Delay in the revision of postal salaries, conceded to be inequitable in certain cases, until the post office department is able to complete its inquiry into cost ascertainment was advised by the President.

"When the results of this inquiry are available," the President said, "they will form the basis for an intelligent consideration by the postmaster general and by congress of all questions relating to the adequacy or inadequacy of postage rates. They will afford a proper basis for consideration of relation of the cost of the postal service and revenues derived therefrom."

The time has arrived to consider putting the postal service on a sound basis so far as expenditures and revenues are concerned.

"It is apparent that the matter of increasing the salaries of postal employees should be considered in connection with the ways and means whereby the postal revenues may be correspondingly increased, not apart therefrom. This report will be available when the congress convenes in December and this matter can then be considered."

LONG OWNS GROCERY.

The firm of Charles Long and Byron LeFevre who have conducted the Family grocery and market on Peoria avenue, was dissolved today, the latter retiring from the business. In the dissolution Mr. Long took over the entire stock and will continue to operate the business along the same lines that has characterized its success in the past. In retiring from the business Mr. LeFevre is undecided as to his future, but will take a much needed vacation for a few weeks.

STUDENT PLEADS FOR NEW BUILDINGS FOR HIGH SCHOOLS

Chose Timely Subject for Oration at Graduation Exercises

The graduating exercises of the Dixon high school were held Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the Assembly Park Auditorium, and were well attended by the parents and friends of those graduating. The class of 1924, which is one of the largest to graduate from the Dixon high school, seated on the platform were very much impressed by the speaker of the evening, Prof. R. LaVerne, Laymen of Chicago University.

Prof. Laymen, in his message, made it plain that it is not a success of dollars and cents that is considered worth while; that it was not the position one holds that makes one a success or a failure in life; but it is the way one handles that position. He said that a crossing watchman, who saves the lives of many people annually is just as successful as the head of a great corporation. He went on to say that the student in all his or her years of school life is determining the success of his later life by the work he does and the type of company he cultivates.

Class Orations

The class orations were given by members of each class. Eugene Vest, of the south side class spoke on the Challenge of Youth, saying that the problems of today will not be settled by the diplomats of the various nations, but by the youth of these nations who are not biased by age old hatreds and prejudices. He told of the young men who fought in the world war, all for the same ideals regardless of whether they were English, French, German or American, and of the societies formed by the young men of these countries to bring about much needed reforms. It has always been the young men who have started reform and have continued in the face of every obstacle," he said.

Pleads for New School

Ruth Johnson of the north side class, was handicapped with a severe cold and spoke with difficulty. She confined her oration to a plea for a new union high school. She explained that at one time the high school of Dixon ranked first in the state, and said, "If Dixon ever again expected to rank among the first schools of the state, the present system of education must be abandoned. Dixon is the only down state city of its size to maintain two separate high schools," she declared.

If a new building were built that would accommodate the pupils of both sides the saving in teachers' salaries alone would amount to about six thousand dollars; a larger variety of courses could be offered and much time and space would be saved by uniting the smaller classes maintained in both schools.

The musical numbers were furnished by the boys' and girls' Glee Clubs, led by Miss Mason. The invocation was by Rev. G. E. Lahr, the diplomas were presented by Charles E. Keyes and the benediction was by Rev. Aubrey S. Moore.

Cars Damaged Friday in Collision Here

A Buick sedan driven by Mrs. Homer Senneff was considerably damaged yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock at the intersection of East Chamberlain street and Assembly Place. Mrs. Senneff was driving to the Assembly park and at the corner where heavy foliage prevents a view of traffic coming north on the intersecting street, a Star car belonging to Samuel Traister, 205 Dixon avenue, Rock Falls, and said to be carrying several high school students from that city, crashed into the front end of the Dixon machine, breaking the bumper and considerably damaging the front end of the machine. None of the occupants of either car was injured. The Senneff car was taken to a garage to be repaired and the Rock Falls car left the scene as soon as the two cars could be parted, it was said.

Alleged Writer Bad Checks Under Arrest

N. A. Judd, who is alleged to have passed several bad checks in this locality a number of weeks ago; is under arrest at Centerville, Iowa, according to a message received by Sheriff Elliott C. Risley this morning. The sheriff has been trying for several days to locate the check writer in southwestern Iowa, and will leave at once to bring him back to this city.

LaSalle Attorney Dead.

Thomas N. Haskins of LaSalle, one of the best known attorneys in this part of the state, died early Friday morning at Mercy hospital, Chicago, where he went two weeks ago in an effort to regain his health. His death was not unexpected. Funeral services will be held at St. Patrick's church in LaSalle Monday morning.

Frank Starks and Roy Barron and their families will leave Sunday morning by auto on a five weeks' western tour. They will spend the greater part of the time in Yellowstone park fishing.

Will be Biggest Low-Head Hydro Plant in World: Turbine Contracts Let Friday

Representatives of the largest marine construction companies in the United States were in Dixon Thursday and Friday, inspecting the site for the erection of the largest low-head hydro electric plant in the world, which is to be built this summer at this place. Bids for the work were opened yesterday and some of the contracts let. The work which is to begin not later than June 20th, and sooner if possible, represents a joint agreement entered into by the Reynolds Wire Company and the Illinois Northern Utilities, and one which will put Dixon at the head of the list in the hydro-electric service cities not only in the United States, but throughout the world. When completed, no hydro-electric plant in the world using a low head, will equal the one in this city.

Contract for Turbines.

Vice President E. D. Alexander this morning announced that the contract for the turbines, five of which will be installed in the new hydro plant, was awarded to William Cramp & Sons, marine engineers and builders of Philadelphia, a firm which is known world wide in this particular line of work. The estimated cost of the turbines in the new plant will be $120,000. Contracts for the building, generators and switch board will not be made public until the latter part of next week. Vice President Alexander will go to Chicago next week to hasten the final steps in getting the work started.

Need But Two Operators.

The approximate amount to be expended on the building which will house the turbines and generators and other equipment, is estimated at about $270,000. The building will be modern in every respect with steel lockers, shower baths and every convenience for the employees. One interesting phase of the new plant on which more than a half million dollars will be expended, is the fact that when completed, but two men will be needed in its operation. Instead of a large force of men in the hydro plant, only two employees, both experts will operate the entire plant.

With the beginning of operations within the next two weeks it is quite apparent that employment will be furnished to a large number of men in this vicinity. Material for the preliminary work will probably begin to arrive the latter part of next week.

Funeral of Philip C. Hoffman at Sterling

The funeral of Philip C. Hoffman of Sterling, who was found dead in his room at the Dixon Inn Thursday afternoon, will be held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Masonic temple in Sterling, Rock River Lodge A. F. & A. M. being in charge and with burial at Riverside cemetery there.

Philip Hoffman was born on May 15, 1886, at Earlville. For a number of years he farmed north and east of Sterling. Prior to farming, however, he was an engineer on the Chicago and Northwestern railroad. For two years or more he was engineer for the People's Ice and Produce company in Sterling and for the past several months was employed at Davenport.

He had a great many warm friends who will be sorry to learn of his death. His mother, Mrs. Emma Gallis, died here suddenly five or six years ago. He has two sisters, Mrs. Carrie Parker of Los Angeles, Cal. and Mrs. Minnie Dessler of Waubesa, Minn.

NO UNSIGHTLY DEFENSE FOR ACCUSED BOYS

Fathers of Youths Issue Statement Concerning Defense

Theme for Address.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Elgin, Ill., June 7.—The Franks murder case was used as an example in a graduation address delivered before Elgin high school students last evening by Dr. A. B. Hall of Wisconsin University, who declared that "Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb were intellectual giants with dwarfed souls," and were the "most dangerous type of criminal known to society."

Dr. Hall's subject before the 174 graduates was "preparedness for life."

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Chicago, June 7.—All the blame for the murder of Robert Franks is placed upon Nathan Leopold, Jr., by his former chum, Richard Loeb, in a confession made by the latter to State's Attorney Crowe a week ago and made public here today.

"I want to say that I offer no excuse. If it was not for the suggestion and stimulation of Leopold the crime would not have been committed," Loeb said in ending his confession.

Loeb in his confession said the "plan was broached by Leopold" as a means of excitement and adventure and to obtain money. Loeb said he dictated the ransom letter and Leopold typed it. He said all the notes and telephone messages had been made in the rough draft several days before, so there would be no mistake. The confession of Loeb is more complete than Leopold's and according to State's Attorney Crowe more valuable.

In the Leopold confession nowhere was he warned that a statement might be used against him and that it must be made freely and voluntarily.

The Loeb statement starts out with a warning to the youth of his rights and that the confession must be voluntarily.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Chicago, June 7.—Only such defense as that to which every human being is entitled will be provided for Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, millionaires' sons, indicted for kidnapping for ransom and slaying Robert Franks, according to a joint statement issued by the fathers of the confessed slayers.

The boys' fathers have "not the slightest inclination nor intention to use their means to stage an unsightly legal battle with an elaborate array of legal counsel and an army of high priced alienists in an attempt to defeat justice," the statement said.

It was the first exposure of the two fathers, Nathan Leopold, Sr., wealthy box manufacturer, and A. H. Loeb, vice president of Sears, Roebuck & Co., since the youths were first taken into custody.

Their First Statement.

"In view of statements that large sums of money will be used in the defense of Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb," the statement said, "the families of the accused boys desire to say that they have no intention to use their means to stage an unsightly legal battle with an elaborate array of counsel and an array of high priced alienists in an attempt to defeat justice."

"Only such defense as that to which every human being is entitled will be provided. Assuming that the facts in this case are substantially as published, then the only proceeding in their favor is a simple, solemn investigation under the law, touching the mental responsibility of their accused sons."

No Large Expenditures.

"They emphatically state that no counsel for the accused boys will be retained, other than those lawyers now representing them, with the possible retention of one additional local lawyer. There will be no large sums of money spent either for legal or medical talent."

"The lawyers representing the accused boys have agreed that the amount of their fees shall be determined by a committee composed of the officers of the Chicago Bar Association."

"If the accused boys are found by a jury to be not mentally responsible, their families agree that the public must be fully protected from any further menace by these boys."

"In event will the families of the accused boys use money in any attempts to defeat justice."

Two indictments were returned by the grand jury yesterday making separate charges of kidnapping for ransom and murder—each a capital offense.

ADVICE TO THE JUNE GRADUATE BY JOHN C. WAHL

PRESIDENT, THE WAHL PEN COMPANY

Manufacturing Gives Better Financial Rewards and Personal Satisfaction

The first factor in the success of any young man starting out in life is that he know what he wants and have a definite object before him in planning for a career. He should be reasonable and practical in his wants, but should want something and know what he wants.

To a young man who is interested in supplying the people of this world with the necessities and comforts of life there is no field he will find more congenial or more remunerative than manufacturing.

To be successful beyond the average he should have, in my opinion, first, a judgment of values, second, a capacity for hard work. He should first ally himself with some prosperous, successful going concern. He may have a great idea, but if he starts out for himself he lacks both experience and capital. Working for some one else, he gains the experience and when he has demonstrated his ability he can command the capital.

As he goes up the ladder he should always apply for a job a little bit harder than what he thinks he can qualify for. If it is a hard job he is impelled to work harder and in that way learns more. To obtain a judgment of values he must be in close contact with his subject and well informed of everything concerning it. Sometimes in business a man has to act very quickly and, if he hasn't good judgment of values, he may make a failure. The man who succeeds is the man who knows a little more about his subject or his line than the other fellow and who has the best judgment of values. If he enters the manufacturing business, he can trade, and is content to remain a bench hand, his eye is fixed by the pay of that trade, but if he gets a working knowledge of all the important processes in the

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS.
Add Vinegar or Lemon.
If you are going to boil fish add vinegar or lemon juice to the water as this hardens the fish and helps keep it whole and thus saves the flavor and nutriment.

Deodorize Knives.
When knives and forks retain the odor of any strong foods for which they have been used, deodorize them by soaking in a bowl containing tea leaves.

Prevents Slipping.
Place a rubber ring such as you use on a fruit jar under a plate you wish to set on ice and there will be no danger of slipping.

Dip in Milk.
To stiffen very fine white lace, dip it in skim milk.

Hang by Hem.
Hang wash skirts on the line by the hem so as to pull them out of shape.

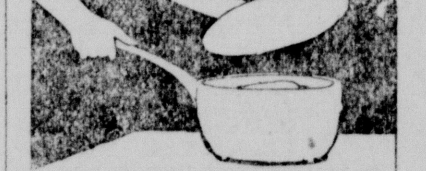

Jelly Glasses.
When filling your jelly glasses place them on a pad of several thicknesses of cloth that has been wrung out of cold water. Do not let them touch each other and there is little possibility of their breaking.

Makes Clothes Whiter.
Put a teaspoonful of powdered borax in the water in which you rinse your clothes and they will be much whiter.

Keeps Moths Away.
Sprinkle borax under your carpets or rugs and you will have no difficulty with moths.

Covering Food.
Food should never be covered with paper of any kind with the possible exception of oiled paper used only once.

Serve Sweet Fruits.
With your morning cereal serve sweet fruits such as dates, figs or bananas because acid fruits sometimes interfere with the digestion of starch.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY HELD MEETING THURSDAY.
The W. M. M. Society of the M. E. church met at the home of Mrs. Chas. Klepinger, 267 East Boyd street, Thursday afternoon.

The meeting, in charge of Mrs. Fred

Hobbs, president, was opened with singing, by all, "Work For the Night is Coming," followed by repeating the Lord's prayer. Mrs. Hobbs read an interesting letter from Rev. H. E. C. Hallock who is in China.

Following the business session, Mrs. Deutsch gave a reading entitled, "The Missionary Friend." Mrs. Deutsch was a cap and apron made from the missionary papers, which made it much more impressive.

Mrs. C. E. Smith, who had charge of the devotional, asked the ladies to repeat with her, the Twenty-third Psalm, then read a paper entitled, "The Psalm of the Assyrian Guest," after which Mrs. Evelyn Street led in prayer. A duet, entitled, "When I Get to the End of the Way," was sung by Mrs. Frank Forman and Mrs. W. H. Gebhardt.

Miss Bessie Missman gave a reading, entitled, "Three Knocks that Summoned in the Night," in a very pleasing manner.

The study chapter—X. Y. Z. was given by Mrs. George Carpenter and Mrs. Withers.

Mrs. Wm. Floto gave an interesting talk on "The Easter Service in California." The "Mystery Box" was in charge of Mrs. Herman Missman. This she presented in a novel way by stating, "that she represented a new oil company and had the original Tea Pot Dome." She displayed a tea-pot wrapped in brown paper, and stated, "that each one was to take several shares in the company and then we will begin production." There shares were guaranteed to produce "the oil of happiness."

The meeting closed with prayer by Mrs. Lillian Harned, followed by a social hour, at which delicious refreshments were served by Unit No. 9.

A Daily Menu for the Stout and Thin.

EAT AND—

LOSE WEIGHT.

One-half grapefruit, 1 stuffed tomato, one half of lettuce hearts, one cup chicken in casserole with 2 slices white meat, 1 cup fruit salad, 2 tablespoons maple mousses, 2 crisp gluten toast, 1 gluten roll, 2 salad wafers, 1 pint skimmed milk.
Total calories, 1152. Protein, 287; fat, 294; carbohydrate, 571. Iron, .6204 gram.

Of course the "cup of chicken" means the vegetables in the dish. Two slices from the breast of the chicken provide about 200 calories and the vegetables add another 100.

Stuffed Tomato Salad.

One medium sized tomato, 1 tablespoon diced pineapple, 1 tablespoon chopped English walnut meats, two tablespoons cottage cheese, salt and paprika.

Scald tomato, slip off skin and put on ice to chill. Cut slice from stem end and scoop out seeds. Sprinkle inside lightly with salt and turn upside down in the ice box to drain and chill. Combine pineapple, nuts and cheese, season with salt and pepper to taste and fill tomato with mixture. Serve on a bed of lettuce hearts.

Total calories (exclusive of lettuce), 206. Protein, 43; fat, 95; carbohydrate, 68. Iron, .8016 gram.

GAIN WEIGHT.

One-half grapefruit with 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 codfish and potato puff, 4 corn meal pancakes, 2 tablespoons butter, 4 tablespoons maple sirup, one cup cream of peanut butter soup, one stuffed tomato on bed of lettuce hearts, 1 cup chicken in casserole with 1 whole thigh and 2 slices white meat, 2 corn fritters with 2 tablespoons sirup, 1 cup fruit salad, 4 tablespoons maple mousses, 1 large piece sunshine cake, 2 tablespoons croquettes with soup, 2 whole wheat bread and butter sandwiches, 2 Parker House rolls, 3 tablespoons butter, 1 pint whole milk.

Total calories, 4331. Protein, 522; fat, 1799; carbohydrate, 2010. Iron, .6226 gram.

This stuffed tomato is made rich with mayonnaise and Neufchâtel cheese is used in place of cottage cheese. This adds about 300 calories to the salad.

If you serve a simple sugar sirup with the corn fritters in place of maple sirup the maple mousses will be more keenly appreciated.

Codfish and Potato Puffs.

One cup salt codfish, 2 cups mashed potato, 4 tablespoons cream, 2 tablespoons butter, 3 eggs, pepper.

Freshen codfish and shred. Add potatoes and mix thoroughly. Add butter and cream and beat well. Beat yolks of eggs until thick and lemon colored and add to potato mixture. Memorial Day was all that could be wished for at this place. The weather was ideal and the large crowd of visitors from far and near was here.

The procession was formed at the Presbyterian church under the direction of F. D. Kelley, marshal of the day. Altitude Post 497 of the American Legion took the lead, then followed the Franklin Grove band, the G. A. R. members, seventy-two squads of children carrying flowers and their leader carrying a large wreath to decorate the seventy-two soldiers graves.

This procession was without a doubt one of the most beautiful sights that Franklin has the privilege of seeing once a year. The line of march of the children is led by little tots about three years of age and from that on to young men and young ladies. Many people who visit here on this day say they never saw such a parade anywhere.

The services at the cemetery were very impressive and as the graves were decorated a feeling of almost intense reverence was felt. The exercises at the cemetery were closed with firing of the salute of the American Legion band, consisting of Walter Heckman, Medrick Hussey, Roy Shoemaker, Ed Humphrey, Jay Tompkins, Ed Beeny, Gordon Meyers and Sterling Wilson. Taps were sounded by F. J. Blocher. The line of march was again formed and marched to the Camp Grounds for further exercises. Music by the band, two solos by Rev. L. V. Stiller, were very sweetly sung.

The reading by Mrs. H. W. Dysart was very interesting and entertaining. The male quartet composed of Messrs. Stiller, Blocher, Halderman and Sunday sang. Rev. Thomas London Jones, pastor of the Presbyterian church was the speaker of the day and his address was a splendid one, his theme being "American Wars."

The day closed with a band concert in the evening. The G. A. R. soldiers

YOU CAN'T TOUCH DIRT WITHOUT GETTING SOILED.

The two boys, Leopold and Loeb, rich men's sons held in Chicago on a charge of atrocious murder, spent their adolescent days reading and discussing the dirt of life.

They read and discussed the same things—things bearing on degenerate sex impulses, and the like—that your boy or your girl, perhaps, are discussing now; certainly the same things that your neighbors' boy and girl are discussing now, in school and college.

And you can't touch dirt without getting soiled.

It is an old truism that is forgotten by a lot of people, nowadays.

Soft mothers and fathers let their sons and daughters read Freudian literature, trash about the uglier phases of sex, and say:

"Our children are so much advanced than we were!"

It is a cold fact that truck of that sort is under constant discussion between young men and young women in their later 'teens and earliest twenties, in nearly every "intellectual" circle in the land.

One of the first signs of it is a sort of weariness of outlook; a disillusioned attitude that is a wretched thing among the young.

They are children, after all. They are in search of the thrills of life, as the young of every species is.

But when the thrills that come with the discovery of new and horrible facts, have vanished, there still remains the desire for new thrills.

Leopold and Loeb found the new thrill. They found it, they say, in murder.

Just boys. Boys from good homes. They had touched dirt, as thousands of others of our young are touching it, and they were stained—blood red!

NO TIME FOR PESSIMISM.

In the late fall with the rigors of winter approaching there may at times be some excuse for calamity-howlers to talk of unemployment, business depression and panic, but in the late spring and early summer, with the seasons of plenty almost within reach, only prosperity talk is seasonable.

Within a few weeks the harvest will begin. The harvest in this great agricultural nation means replenished finances for the farmer, increased business for the retailer and manufacturer, busy railroads, more employment and general prosperity.

During the period of cultivation, which we are now in the midst of, labor released from the mills is finding a new market in the fields and the railroads are busy transporting machinery, seed and fertilizer to supply the wants of the busy farmers. Here again, labor, industry, commerce and business benefit from agricultural activity.

There is every cause for optimism at present. Let the chronic prognosticator of panic wait until drought or pestilence come to destroy the nation's crops. Then will be time enough to talk famine. Now there is nothing but assurances of prosperity and plenty.

THE PRICE YOU PAY.

No matter what we get in life, we pay for it. Nature never gives something for nothing. Whenever we acquire anything, we lose an equivalent something.

Take the family that was poor until the war came and made them rich. Their wealth has brought wonderful things into their lives. But they have lost things that cannot be measured in dollars—including association with intimate friends of the old days, and the joys of simple pleasures.

Maybe they are happier than they were back in the days when a dollar looked as big as a wagon wheel. If so, they are being rewarded for enduring past misery.

The law of compensation—cause and effect—always balances the scales in the long run. The weights that balance the scales are not always visible to outsiders. But it takes a lot of ill-gotten gains to compensate for remorse, shame or an uneasy conscience.

Possibly shame, even conscience, is lacking in some hearts during life. But no one knows what thoughts and feelings are at the instant of death. Nor the price that is collected beyond the grave from people who dodge payment in this life.

Most of the discomforts and reputed loneliness of bachelor life vanish when we marry. But we soon find that we have acquired new burdens and worries.

Observe the mother, slave to her baby. She is paying for the maternal joy that has come into her life.

Ponder the man who flees from the congestion, stenches and irritation of the city. In the wilderness or on a farm he has freedom, elbow-room, fresh air, peace. And he pays the price by not having the conveniences and excitement of the metropolis.

Even knowledge has its price—intense study and surrender of time that might be spent in pleasure.

We pay in full. When we get a thing we lose its equivalent. At the end of the road, old and successful, we look back and would trade it all for youth. Something for nothing? Never!

ELECTRIC.

Only 5 out of every 200 American farmers are receiving service from electric light and power companies. Many others, of course, have their own generating plants on the farm.

But, with cities and towns using electricity almost without exception, it's surprising how slowly electric service is being extended to the farms. A link is very definitely missing, and the link may be transmission of electric power by radio, which inevitably will be the eventual way.

Meantime, waterpower—which will be one of the greatest future electric generators—must be conserved for the public. Concentration of waterpower in private hands, headed for monopoly, is an increasing menace.

COUNTERFEITERS.

The underworld is quick to adopt the latest in science. Now they're using color photography in counterfeiting. A banknote faked by this method is difficult to detect. And one counterfeiter's work looks just like another's. In older methods, each counterfeiter had peculiarities that showed in his work, so that detectives, studying the fake, would recognize almost instantly the identity of the veteran maker.

So away he went with his new kite.

Chippy Chipmunk came into Mister Bags' store one day, in the woods, and held up a penny.

"If you please, sir, I want to buy a kite."

"All right," said Nick. "Here's a nice green one."

"Please tie a string to it, will you?" asked Chippy.

"Sure," said Nick.

So he got a nice long string and tied it on.

"I hope I won't see that horrid old crow," said Chippy. "He's always snooping around a-looking as though he'd like to eat me."

"Why, I don't think Mister Crow would hurt you," said Nancy. "He's pretty mischievous, but not really mean."

"And he's too full of Farmer Jones' corn to want to eat chipmunks," laughed Mister Bags, the fairy store-keeper.

"Well, I don't care," said Chippy. "Ma always told me to be careful of Mister Owl and Mister Hawk and Mister Crow and I think she ought to know."

"You just run right along and have a good time," said the fairyman. "If we're always going to be afraid of something or other all the time it spoils everything we do."

"That's so," agreed Chippy. "It does seem as though I was always worrying. Hooray, everybody! Watch my kite go up."

So away he went with his new kite, which was as big as he was, and when he got out to the meadow where there weren't any trees, he climbed up on top of a big stone and let out the string.

"Hooray! Whoopee!" he shouted, for just then a strong gust of wind came along and carried the kite up into the air like a bird.

"It's almost as good as flying myself," said Chippy happily, letting out more string.

Suddenly the string came to an end and Chippy was lifted off his feet with a jerk.

He didn't let go, for it all happened so quickly he was too much surprised. And when he wanted to let go he was too far above the ground to risk falling.

"Help, help, help!" he screamed with all his might.

Mister Bags heard him and the Twins heard him and his mamma heard him, and everybody else in the Green Woods and the meadow heard him, and they rushed out to see what had happened.

They arrived just in time to see poor Chippy up in the air dangling at the end of a string like a bait on the end of a fishing line.

"Don't worry, I'll get him for you," croaked a hoarse voice, and Mister Crow flew up from the fence beside the cornfield, straight for the tiny figure. Then he flew right under him and Chippy let go and landed safely on his back.

It was exactly like an act in the movies.

Then Mister Crow flew down to the ground.

"Oh, thank you, thank you," cried Mrs. Chipmunk. "I always thought crows at little chipmunks, sir. I beg your pardon."

"Oh, that's all right," croaked Mister Crow. "Who'd want chipmunks when corn's just sprouting?"

LETTER FROM RUTH ELLINGTON TO EDGERTON SANTLEY

DEAR MR. SANTLEY:

I think from your letter that Walter must have written you at the same time he wrote me. I have known for some weeks that he was coming very soon, but he tells me now that he will be here about the 15th of next month.

I really think you have neglected me by not coming over, as when Leslie was in New York last she said that you expected to come. However, I am sure that Walter will bring you when he returns.

The more you know my friend Leslie Prescott, Mr. Santley, the better you will like her. She is the sweetest, sincerest and most loyal woman I have ever known. I do not personally know any of the others of her family, so I cannot know if your estimate of her sister, Alice, be true, but from what Leslie writes me, I think it is probably so, although, as you say, I think only an Englishman could have made it.

I don't know how much Walter has told you of me. Last time we met, I was married to Mr. Ellington, you know. This morning I received my decree of divorce from him. I am telling you this myself to put myself right in your eyes before you meet me. There will probably be plenty of people very ready to tell you why I obtained this separation.

Thank you for your thought of me in telling me that Walter will be here soon, and believe me,

Yours cordially,

RUTH ELLINGTON.

Letter from John Alden Prescott to Sydney Carton

I don't know what you mean, old fellow, by telling me to watch my step. I don't believe that I stumble any oftener than most men, including yourself. Can't a married man be amused by a clever woman without committing an offense against his wife? Why, you old dunderhead, I wish you could see the last letter I wrote to Leslie. It's one of the most fervid love letters I have ever written. I even told her I was jealous of her former sweetheart, and that's going some!

But enough of this. I'll abuse you roundly for it, however, when I see you. You have no reason for bailing me out in this case whatever. I'm a perfectly good husband, and nobody knows that better than myself. I

Export Bounty Sought on Wheat and Products

Washington, June 6.—In a final attempt to secure farm relief legislation at this session the farm bloc in both the senate and house have pledged support to the Bureau bill authorizing the Secretary of Agriculture to pay an export bounty of 35 cents per bushel on wheat and wheat products.

The bill was favorably reported today by the senate agriculture committee and Senator Nyebeck, republican, South Dakota, asked for immediate action. He declared sufficient votes for passage had been pledged to it both in the senate and the house.

Supporters of the bill said it was intended as temporary legislation to relieve wheat growers.

To Hit Something, Aim High

"Aim low," says the philosopher, "and you will surely hit the ground."

The world needs ambitious men and it pays them well. The ambitious man does not sit around, idly waiting for something to turn up. Instead he makes things happen to his advantage. And first of all he attracts favorable attention to himself—particularly by always looking neat and business-like in his dress. Aim high. It pays.

You advertise yourself every day, every hour, by how you look. Inevitably you attract success or you drive it from you. Which are you doing? Think it over.

JOHNSON PITCHES
104th SCORELESS
GAME OF CAREERWashington Star in Mid-season Form Against Tigers Yesterday

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Eastern clubs in the American League move today to the second stages of their journey through the west after having captured nine of the 14 games played.

The world's champions held first place by a full game following their 53 victory yesterday, which gave them the series with Chicago. Jones held the Sox until the eighth inning, when Herb Pennock relieved him and stopped a threatened rally. Ruth's 14th homer found the bases empty.

Boston, which headed the Yanks for a day by winning the first two games with the Browns, lost yesterday, 3-4. The Browns rapped Ferguson for five runs in the first frame. Boone's third homer in four days and Clarke's circuit clout accounted for two of the nine Boston hits off Lyons.

Walter's 104th Shutout
Detroit lost 2-0 to Washington as Walter Johnson allowed only four hits in his one hundred and fourth shutout. Whitehall held the Senators to six hits.

In the American League contest, the Athletics beat Cleveland, 11-7 and left town with two of the three games played, leaving the Indians full possession of the subway of the League.

Cincinnati in fourth place, lost an opportunity to pass the Robins when Boston staged an eighth inning rally which beat the Reds, 4-3.

The Phillies made it three out of four from the Cardinals with a 7-6 victory. Cy Williams had four of the 17 Philly hits. The result permitted the Cardinals to end the season within two and one-half contests of the Cardinals in seventh place.

Staged Fight
In the National League Heinie Sand of the Phillies and Clarence Mueller of the Cardinals participated in an impromptu battle at second base which required both teams, in tug of war positions, to stop.

Babe Ruth, in addition to making his 14th home run of the season grabbed Falk's fly with a running backhand catch in the third and won a big hand from the fans. He walked twice, flew out once, made a homer and fanned once.

Filipino Ball Team is Sterling Legion's Foe

Sterling, June 7.—Today and Sunday the local baseball fans will have a rare treat, for at this time the famous Filipino baseball team, all natives of the Philippine Islands, will play in Sterling. The young men have been in this country attending various colleges and universities and a short time ago organized the team for a tour of the middle west and western states before leaving for their own country.

Tombo is the star pitcher with the club, having won against such teams as Denton Harbor, Mich., the University of Chicago, and teams of that caliber. He was with the Chicago White Sox on their training trip this year. Cepedes, who alternates between right field and pitching, represented the United States in the Olympic games during the years 1920-21 at France and Belgium. He will be glad to meet any runner in this vicinity in a 100 or 220 yard dash.

Some of the other players have been playing ball in their own country during the winter, and all are in good condition as has been shown by their long list of victories. The ball park should be filled to capacity on each day.

The Filipino lineup is as follows: Cepedes, rf; Del Rosario, 2b; Takaki, cf; Toledo, 3b; Lallana, lf; Pepiso, ss; Iwanaho, 1b; Tashiro, c; Tombo, pascud, Raminahman, p; Ruzs, utility.

Records Made by Best Hitters and Runners of Leagues

Chicago, June 7.—By the Associated Press—Babe Ruth, who in 1921 achieved the honor of pelting out 53 home runs, has landed among the leading hitters of the American League after a long chase.

The Yankees' star, threatening to challenge Harry Heilmann of the Tigers for the leadership, today is batting in fifth place, with an average of .367, a gain of 31 points within a week. He continues to swing his bat with the same effectiveness in driving out the homers, having connected with two the last week, bringing up his total to thirteen. The figures include games of Wednesday.

Heilmann is still the best among the hitters, topping the list with an average of .404. This however, is a less record, but his nine thefts is enough to keep him on the top of the heap.

The hitting of Sam Rice of the Senators was one of the outstanding features. His clouting has been a big factor in placing the Senators at the head of the list in team batting with an average of .299, with Cleveland next with .298 and the Yankees third with .297. Rice went from a mark of .275 up to .338.

Other leading hitters: Meusel, New York, .364; Cobb, Detroit, .352; Williams, St. Louis, .349; McNulty, Cleveland, .345; Jamieson, Cleveland, .343; Sheely, Chicago, .341; Rice, Washington, .338.

In National League
Frank Snyder, veteran catcher of the New York Giants, has finally overtaken Rogers Hornsby, star of the Cardinals, for hitting honors in the National League. Snyder, in climbing to the leadership, has averaged approximately two hits a game, his average jumping to .408, a gain of 48 points. Hornsby, who held the spotlight almost all season, suffered a 20 point drop and is trailing the New York slugger with .401. Zach Wheat of the Dodgers and George Kelly, New York first baseman, are tied for third place honors with .386.

Frank Frisch of the Giants continues to lead in scoring, his total being 41. Jacques Fournier, of the Dodgers, closed out two home runs and is showing the way with eleven. The base stealers did not show much activity, George Grantham of the Cubs, breaking past his rivals with eleven.

Other leading batters: Bressler, Cincinnati, .358; Frisch, New York, .361; Fournier, Brooklyn, .346; Young, New York, .344; Grimes, Chicago, .336; High, Brooklyn, .333; Tierney, Boston, .331; Grigsby, Chicago, .330.

NEW YORKER IS
NEW GOLF CHAMP
OF THE COUNTRYDefeated Bobby Jones
in Thrilling Finish of Tourney

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Detroit, Mich., June 7.—America has a new open golf champion today. Cyril Walker of Englewood Country Club of the suburban district of New York—and for the first time in four years he was not a native American. Walker, who is a native of Hoveyale, England took the crown from Bobby Jones, with a score of 297, three strokes better than the score of the southern champion, played over the links of the Oakland Hills Country Club.

The finish was a thrilling one. Jones had shared the lead at the end of the first 36 holes with Bill Mehlhorn of St. Louis, but Walker had tied the Atlantian at the end of the 3rd round and they were still even at the end of the first half of the final round. It was in the home stretch that Jones faltered, taking a six on the 10th for the second time and finishing with a forty.

Mehlhorn, one stroke behind Jones, had 301. Fourth place was shared with 303 by MacDonald Smith, San Francisco, Walter Hagen and Bobby Cruikshank of New York.

Other Prize Winners
The others to finish among the prize winners were Peter O'Hara, New York; Abe Espinosa, San Francisco, with 305 each; Mike Brady, New York with 306 and Chick Evans and Eddie Loos of Chicago and Dave Roberts of Detroit with 307.

Walker had not been looked upon as a likely winner. Outside of Fred McLeod of Washington, who won the title 20 years ago, Walker is the slightest in stature of any man who ever won the national open championship. He weighs less than 130 pounds. Par 72 for the 6,880 yard course was equalled less than half a dozen times and was bettered but once when Abe Espinosa, San Francisco, set a course record of 71.

While the total score was comparatively high for an open championship being 11 strokes above the record set by Chick Evans when he won the title in 1916 the course was probably the longest over which the competition was ever played and scoring was made difficult because the late spring had hindered perfection of the turf. Putting was particularly difficult on many greens.

English Tennis Fans

Like American Champ

By Associated Press Leased Wire

London, June 7.—British lawn tennis fans are keener than ever for a match between Suzanne Lenglen and Helen Wills after seeing the American champion in real action yesterday at Harpenden.

Miss Wills not only defeated S. H. Jarvis of the Harpenden club, but carried D. M. Greig to 7-9 in a set in which he was at one time two points from victory. Greig ranks among the first 12 on the British courts.

Ike Boone, the former Southern Association slugger, playing regularly for the Red Sox, continues to hang on Heilmann's heels with an average of .381. Harris of the Red Sox is third with .370.

Eddie Collins of the Chicago White Sox, failed to add to his base stealing record, but his nine thefts is enough to keep him on the top of the heap.

The hitting of Sam Rice of the Senators was one of the outstanding features. His clouting has been a big factor in placing the Senators at the head of the list in team batting with an average of .299, with Cleveland next with .298 and the Yankees third with .297. LONG JAUNTBaxters on 50,000 Mile Journey, Are Guests of Eichler Bros. Annex

Mr. Joseph Eichler, of Eichler Bros. Annex had the pleasure this week of entertaining quite noted visitors in the persons of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Baxter, who are traveling 50,000 miles on foot.

Mr. and Mrs. Baxter left Washington D. C., on the 14th day of December, 1921 and to date have covered 26,037 miles. In going this distance they have visited every state in the union, as well as Canada and Mexico. They have also taken a side trip to Cuba.

The trip was primarily for the benefit of Mr. Baxter's health, as he had contracted a nervous trouble while in the service, and the recommendation of his physicians was to spend as much time as possible in the open. According to Mr. Baxter, a friend became interested in his case and made him a proposition that if he would start out with one cent, walk 50,000 miles in seven years and return with the cent, he would make him a gift of $10,000. The Baxters started out with a lot of determination and one cent in their pockets.

DUNTILE
Builds Better Buildings Cheaper

THIS is what we mean by a better building. One that is a better place in which to live or work, one that performs its functions in a more thorough way. It must be a healthful building, free from dampness. A comfortable building, warm in winter and cool in summer. It cannot burn down, neither must it deteriorate with age. It must be permanent. A modern building that stays modern and an attractive building that has its value enhanced by a distinctive beauty.

To build such a building cheaper means that the cost of materials must be less and that the job be done more rapidly with less labor and material. Not only should the first cost be less, but the later expense of repair and upkeep should be eliminated.

Duntile builds, such buildings, better and cheaper.

WILL M. CRESSY at the REPUBLICAN CONVENTION

It's getting crowded in Cleveland, but Will Cressy is still on the job. This is the second of his convention stories for The Telegraph. Next week the performance really begins.

BY WILL M. CRESSY.
Illustrated by George Storm.

The Clans are gathering. I never saw so many Willing Workers in my life. They are willing to work anybody.

I tell you it makes a fellow's heart swell with pride to realize that we live in a free country. And to know that out of 10,000,000 people we can vote for either one of two men that we want to. Or, if Mister LaFollette bolts, we can have our choice of three men.

You see the way this thing works, first we hold our primaries. At which our local bosses tell us who to vote for to send to these conventions. And then when they get there the Big Bosses tell them who to vote for. And then we can vote for the one they pick out. Which gives us a great chance to choose.

One thing I like about these conventions is the way it brings us men together. I have got nine in my room now, and two more coming. We have got three in my bed; but I don't care; I am in the middle.

The fellow who sleeps in the bathtub had a little hard luck last night, though. He got to kicking around and opened the hot water faucet. And he is wondering how they are going to "seat" him as a delegate.

This morning a wrinkled, touseled, wild-eyed man came up to the clerk of the hotel and said:

"Say, look here! You will have to get me a bed! I can't stand this any longer!"

"How long have you been here?" asked the clerk.

"Three days."

"Where have you been sleeping?"

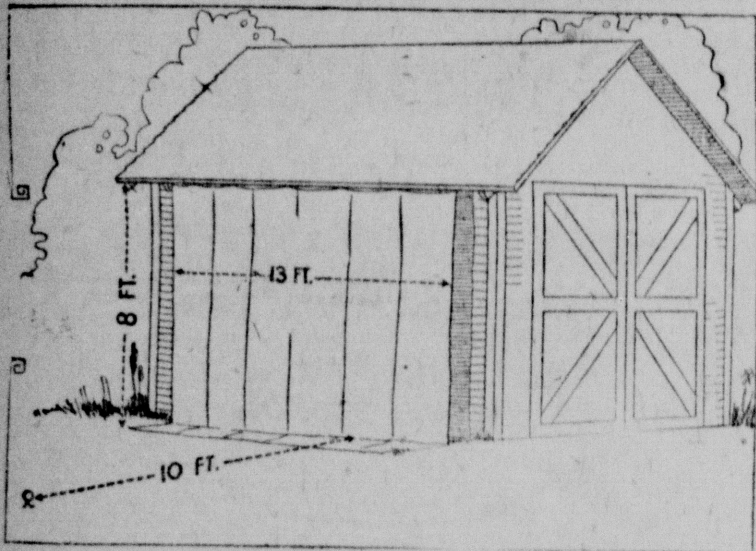

"In the laundry, on top of a sick Democrat. But he has just found out I am a Republican and kicked me out."

One of the Oklahoma delegates has sued the hotel because in turning over in the night a billiard ball broke a bottle in his hip pocket.

And a Texas man who was sleeping in a barber's chair touched the wrong button and when he woke up found he had had a bath, a manicure, his hair bobbed and a permanent wave.

But the more I see of the town the better I like it. They are such go-ahead folks. They have got a couple of depots down on the dumps by the lake shore that go ahead of anything I can recall just now. They are the very last thing in architecture—before you come to the breakwater. The newly arrived delegates have a lot of innocent amusement betting on which are passenger stations and which the freight depots.

Turn Yard Into a Golf Course

This is the last of a series of ten articles on the construction and use of playground equipment adapted to the back yard.

BY W. C. BATCHELOR.

The modern playground is not considered complete without some provision for adult play, and the back yard playground is no exception.

The one major sport which is actively interesting more men and women than any other at the present time is golf. The game may easily be adapted to the back yard!

Any level spot, either grass or bare ground, will provide space for a putting green. If bare ground is used, it should be covered with a thin layer of sand. Mixing the sand with oil will prevent the wind and rain from carrying it away. The most common oil used is a half-and-half mixture of fuel oil and distillate, but oil drained from the crank case of an automobile will do.

For the hole a can should be sunk flush with the ground—a tomato can or any similar can about 4 1/2 inches in diameter.

A net for driving practice is just as easily constructed. A piece of canvas 12 feet wide, hung from the edge of the garage roof to the grounds, is all that is necessary. Eyelets should be placed along the upper edge so that the canvas can be hung from nails driven in the end of each rafters. It should be left loose at the bottom but should touch the ground. Any awning dealer will make such a net according to your specifications for approximately $10.00, or a tarpaulin commonly known as a "wagon sheet" is suitable for this purpose and may be purchased at any hardware store. Made of 10-ounce duck, 10 by 13 feet, the cost is approximately $7.50.

The ball should be driven from a point directly in front of the net and not more than 10 feet away. If the canvas is loose at the bottom, there will be no rebound.

For the particularly "wild" golfer, it may be necessary to add another yard to the width of the net, but 12 or 13 feet will be found sufficient for the average "dub."

A golf ball attached to a stake with a cord and spring, known as the "captive golf ball," also a practical device for backyard driving practice. This is sold by sporting goods dealers for about $1.75.

LIBRARY NOTES

HEROES OF AVIATION.

By Laurence L. Driggs.

The great war has produced a new kind of hero—the hero of the air, and it is the dramatic careers of some of the most famous of the Allied fliers that Mr. Driggs, perhaps the foremost authoritative writer on aviation in this country, relates in his new book. More absorbing than Jules Verne or any other imaginative writers could have produced are the vivid accounts of the battles in the air of such world-reowned fliers as Captain Georges Guynemer, the most famous of all aces, who achieved 53 victories; of Lieutenant Rene Fonck, the morosest living ace of France, who brought down six enemy planes in one day; Captain Albert Ball, the twenty-year-old English boy who had accounted for 43 German fliers before he was killed; Col. William A. Bishop, the Canadian in the Royal Flying Corps, who has destroyed 72 Hun planes and still lives; and Major Raoul Lufbery, the intrepid American ace whose official score was 18 when he was brought down.

For the first time the complete story of the American Lafayette Escadrille, which included Kiffin Rockwell, Norman Prince, James McConnell, Victor Chapman, Bert Hall, Captain William Thaw and Major Lufbery, is given in detail. There is a graphic account of the work of the Storks, N. 3, the most famous fighting escadrille in France, of which Guynemer was the head, and including also Heurteaux, Dorne, Dequilla, Aguer and Rene Fonck. While many books dealing with the personal experiences of individual aviators have appeared, Mr. Driggs is the first to tell in a single volume the authentic stories of more than a score of the most daring fliers of the principal Allied countries. Included in the book is chapter giving a list of the aces of all nations and their victories.

Supreme Court Busy Giving Its Decisions

Springfield, Ill., June 6.—A writ of mandamus, attacking the zoning ordinance of the city of Evanston is being decided by the supreme court today.

Mrs. Sarah V. Dwyer sought the mandamus to compel Evanston to grant a permit for erection of a $800,000 apartment house on Michigan avenue north of Northwestern University. She was refused on the ground that the ordinance for bids building of "tenements" in district A.

Re-hearing of a decision reversing a lower court award of $3,500, granted Mrs. Leona V. Fortner of Decatur, in her suit against her husband, James W. Fortner, building contractor, because of the death of their son, Gerald H. Fortner, a bricklayer, was denied by the supreme court today.

The court held that Mr. Fortner supported his wife, and that she could not sue him under the compensation act.

The supreme court today denied to reconsider the award granted Mrs. Bertha Albrecht, of O'Fallon, whose husband William Albrecht, was killed when he went back to examine a lighted fuse in the mine of St. Louis & O'Fallon Coal Company. The company fought the award on the ground that Albrecht had virtually "committed suicide" in going back. The court held that his act was "not a wise thing to do," but was nevertheless in the course of his employment.

One LAND OF FORGOTTEN MEN by Edison Marshall

Released by NEA Service, Inc. Copyright 1923 by Little, Brown & Co.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Peter Newhall, Augusta, Ga., flew to Alaska, after being told by Ivan, a Russian violinist, he had drowned Paul Sarichev, Ishmin's secretary, following a quarrel. Ishmin's boss for guide and labor, Lamejice Pete, is chosen as guide. Ishmin and Dorothy arrive but do not recognize him.

Dorothy decides to carry Peter's body back to Georgia for burial. Ishmin arranges by letter with Lamejice Pete to be chosen as guide. Lamejice Pete is chosen as guide. Ishmin and Dorothy arrive but do not recognize him.

Now GO ON WITH THE STORY

At intervals the rolling shore line gave way to grim and lofty precipices, the high ranges dropping sharply off into the sea, and here the waves broke in great, unrelenting, shimmering clouds of spray. Beyond these many-hued cliffs was the supreme Aleutian Range, a wonderful divide of sharp, jagged snow-swept peaks. There was no sign that man had gained a foothold here, never a village or roof, a trapper's hut or a camp fire. Thus had it lain unchanged since, in bygone ages, it had raised up from the sea.

Dorothy was aware as she stood at the deck railing that a few yards forward Pete the guide watched the shore line, too. He seemed lost in the brooding mood that it invoked. She found herself glancing, from time to time, at his homely, thoughtful face, the broad shoulders hunched over the railing, and by woman's secret ways she knew that he was deeply and poignantly aware of her presence also. Suddenly he spoke to her and pointed toward the beach.

"Look just to the left of that big, white triangular rock," he told her. "Do you see something moving?"

Instantly she caught a spot of red. "Yes—what is it?"

"A fox. We'll see lots of 'em. If you keep your eyes open, we may see a bobcat, too—they roam here in enormous numbers."

She moved nearer to him, and he pointed out things of interest. Once he showed her a flock of beach geese, lifting tall heads from the shore; often half-sailed rolled up with the combers, and once he showed her what he thought to be that most rare of marine animals, a sea otter, playing in a floating bed of kelp. Of sea life there was an abundance, porpoises playing beside the ship, a whale blowing far off, once the long, dark fin of a basking shark, chasing salmon in the mouth of a long, deep bay.

"Maybe I'll get to show you a Kodiak bear, too," Pete told her. "Then you'll get the thrill of your life."

He showed her the high, glittering Pavlov volcano, and her towering sister peak, one of the most symmetrical mountains in the world.

She felt increasingly glad that Bradford had selected him for the head guide. She saw with pleasure that he was personally immaculate—his blond beard trimmed until it was almost distinguished-looking, his rough garb well kept and clean. She had a feeling that, should one of the rolling waves rise up and overwhelm the boat, his would be a strong arm to rescue her. At present, however, the seas were comparatively placid, easily rolling, the sky blue overhead, the warm late September sun pouring gently down on the deck.

"I believe we're going to have the best of weather," she told him.

Pete hesitated. "I don't like the way the clouds lie on the hills," he said.

What a JOKE ON BIG CHRIS LARSON.

moved by the belief that this was the site of her husband's death, her brilliant beauty accentuated by the wind on her cheeks, and the sea's blue deepening her violet eyes; Ivan, thrilled by the savage beauty of the land, dressed warmly in smart riding trousers, rubber and leather boots, and a sheep-lined coat, and the three guides outwardly stolid and businesslike, climbed into one of the ship's boats into which Pete had already packed a large part of his winter supplies and such duff as Dorothy and Ivan had brought; and the word was given to lower away.

"One thing more," Dorothy directed, as the crew stood at the davits. "Ivan, I want you to bring your violin."

"Of course." One of the crew immediately brought the precious instrument to his side, not the brilliant Stradivarius, but a beautiful Horstener of wonderful, mellow tone.

The boat was lowered, and the three Alaskans took the oars. They headed straight toward the gate between the reefs where the dory of the Dolly Betts had rowed to rescue the battered, bleeding Remittance Man almost two years before.

Nearer view did not in the least alleviate the deep feeling that this land invoked in Dorothy. As she pushed through the deep moss up the wind-swept hill, the haunting spirit of the waste places went home to her as never before.

Pete paused on the hill, then he began a detailed study of the beach below through the binoculars. And

CHAPTER VIII Stranded

DOROTHY could scarcely believe her eyes at first. Then she leaped out from her shelter—a slender, appealing figure in the clouds of rain—and called sobbingly, as if her voice would carry out to sea. Then she turned in desperation to the head guide.

Take Salts to Wash Kidneys if Back Pains You or Bladder Bothers

Flush your kidneys by drinking a quart of water each day, also take salts occasionally, says a noted authority, who tells us that too much rich food forms acids which almost paralyze the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken; then you may suffer with a full misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine jets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids, to help cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys may then get fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; can not injure and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

Failed to Determine Cause of Fatal Wreck

Williamsport, Ind., June 6.—The cause of the derailment of Wabash train number 2, west of here last Sunday night, in which twelve lives were lost, was not determined, according to the verdict of Governor Briggs of Warren County, issued late yesterday afternoon. In each case the verdict, which was held into the death of eight of the victims, was that death had been caused from injuries received when the train left the main line and crashed into the freight standing on the siding, the cause of the derailment being unknown.

Signs Alaska Bill.

Washington, June 6.—President Coolidge today signed the bill to establish fishing reserves in Alaska and to effect other measures to conserve the salmon fisheries of the territory.

STOMACH DISTRESS

A Suggestion Worth While

Peoria, Ill.—"I found great help from the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I was suffering from stomach trouble and nothing seemed to relieve me until I took the Discovery. Gradually the distress diminished and finally left me entirely. I also find Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets a good family medicine. They clear the liver and stomach of all impurities, in fact, I find them the only thing that will keep myself and family in health."—Michael M. Schuster, 300 Eckley Street.

Obtain the Discovery in tablets or liquid from your nearest druggist, or send 10 cents for trial package to Dr. J. C. Rusk, Peoria, Ill.

Now that Spring has come to stay, many car-owners will begin to think of open-country driving, with the road streaming away under them at a merry clip.

But the car must be put into shape—the oil in the crank case must be changed, good gasoline put in the tank and free air in the tires. We are equipped to do these things with no extra charge.
